Location: Sacramento, CA

At the point where feeling good and consciousness meet is where the musical talents of 3di$on emerge, bringing in a new original feel into the world of hip hop. His choppy rhyming scheme and thought-provoking lyricism create for a valiant ride for his audience which bridges the gap between backpack and turn up music. 3di$on tackles controversial issues such as the psychological aspects of money woes, depression, and politics. He has been climbing the ropes in his hometown of Sacramento and plans to bring a perspective to his music that influences people to understand before they judge.

His first studio EP titled “unREAL” is a blend of trap, edm, soul and even boom bap styled productions. The EP is an effort to transcend genres and express different emotions through his relection of his early life of growing up a poor young African-American kid, in the rural parts of his city. He gathers the production talents of The Drumaddictz, Nizzy J, ENON (Either Now Or Never), Teo Beats and Freekwenzy to create a mind boggling listening experience, that starts fast-paced then slows down as the plot thickens. This album truly shows the struggle of a young man growing up in life, dealing with the good and bad choices of his past, as well as learning from them. It’s an album of the ages, that’s most definitely relatable to people from different walks of life and can be taken from different view points. “unREAL” is due to release on October 1st, 2014.

Rise & Shine, the third single off of 3di$on’s “unREAL” project, an uptempo track produced by Keep it So Solid’s own Teo Beats, serves as a nostalgic introduction to the new mindset he as a 22 year old artist and man in regards to earning his respect. He is accompied on the track by fellow local artist Natho of Over Grind Media, who also shot and directed the music video. 3di$on’s choppy fast-paced flow, hyperactive tone of voice and personified lyricism manage to show of his abilities to his fullest extent, while also providing a new sound.
